On the other hand the individual nominees can exercise more than 5% (five percent) of the voting rights on the condition that they explicitly declare the identities of the individual financial beneficiaries of the shares that are held by them and that these latter, individually, do not represent more than 5% (five percent) of the voting rights. This voting right limitation is not applicable to the current shareholders, Dieter Specht, Hans vom Stein and Bruna Ghisalberti and to their descendents in the direct blood line of the first generation on condition that the individual families, in other words those persons appertaining to the parental and childhood generations involved only hold, on a total overall basis, a part of the share capital of the company that represents at least 10% (ten percent) of the whole of the share capital of the company.

7. The relocation of the company's registered office.
8. The winding up of the company without any liquidation procedure.

Votes and elections are carried out openly or electronically. The Chair may require individual votes to be collected or scanned from voting cards, or the General Shareholders' Meeting may decide to do this upon the request of any shareholder by a simple majority with a show of hands.

The General Shareholders' Meeting of the company can approve the Annual Financial Statements and pass a resolution regarding the allocation of the net profit after tax resulting from them only if the same is subject to a proper audit, an audit report is produced and an auditor is actually present at the time of approval. With a resolution passed with a unanimous vote the General Shareholders' Meeting of the company can dispense with the presence of an auditor.

The General Shareholders' Meeting annually elects an independent voting rights representative. The term of office ends with the conclusion of the next regular General Shareholders' Meeting. Re-election is possible. Natural or legal persons or partnerships are eligible for election.
